- IV. The safety and wellbeing of any student or other person using Miniteaching is a priority. These procedures aim to ensure a prompt response to any incident and minimise any further harm to a student or other person.
- V. There are differing severities of behaviour which could be witnessed during a tutoring session. Some behaviour would warrant only a report to Miniteaching; other behaviour maybe of a more serious nature where a direct report to the police may be necessary.
- VI. Each section below sets out the recommended procedure which should be followed. It is always the responsibility of the person alerted to the incident to take some action to protect the student or other person. Miniteaching will not be responsible for any non-compliance with the recommended procedure.
